UNDERSTANDING THE BLOCKED ACCOUNT

Germany requires international students to maintain a Blocked Account (Sperrkonto) as proof of financial stability for visa approval.

For 2026, students are generally expected to maintain approximately €11,904 in the blocked account.

Important Points:

- The amount is released monthly after arriving in Germany.
- Students cannot withdraw the entire amount at once.
- Common blocked account providers include Expatrio, Fintiba, and Coracle.

The blocked account acts as proof that the student can manage living expenses while studying in Germany.

TUITION & LIVING COST BREAKDOWN

| | | |
|----------|--------------------|--|
| ■ Munich | ■1L – ■1.6L/month | Expensive housing • Strong job market |
| ■ Berlin | ■80K – ■1.3L/month | Large international student population |

| | | |
|-----------|--------------------|-----------------------------------|
| ■ Hamburg | ■75K – ■1.2L/month | Balanced affordability |
| ■ Aachen | ■60K – ■95K/month | Student-friendly engineering city |
| ■ Leipzig | ■55K – ■85K/month | Lower cost regional option |

STUDY2MIGRATE INSIGHTS

- Public universities in Germany can significantly reduce overall education costs for students with strong academic profiles.
- Many Telugu students choose Germany for engineering, automotive, AI, and manufacturing-related careers.
- Students should not underestimate accommodation challenges in cities like Munich and Berlin, especially during intake seasons.
